Thus it is that justice fails; for of its failure there is only too little doubt. The most glaring instance was in the alleged arson case yesterday. A fuse made of josssticks, matches and paper soaked in kerosene, was found alight in a bouse. That is arson plain enough. The Chinese in charge of the house professed to know nothing of it, though the doors were fastened and had not been broken open by any outsider. ## BOATMAN.

INQUIRY AT THE MAGISTRACY. At the Magistracy this morning, Mr H. E. Wodehouse held an inquiry into the circumstances under which a Chinese boatman in the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs met

The body was found in Aberdeen Harbour on the morning of the 5th inst., and a post mortem examination was held of previous witnesses was that four days previously, the man fell overboard from a boat while attempting to board a launch at Capanimoon. His name was Lau Lam Po, and he was 24 years of age.

Dr Cautlie, who gave his evidence to-day, stated-I made a postmortem examination at the mortuary on the evening of the 5th inst, upon the body of a Chinese male adult. There was no appearance of drowning, but the lungs were in such a condition that it is difficult to say with certainty. The amputation appeared to have been made during life. I think the man was killed and then thrown into the water. His Worship-Your evidence throws a new light on the case. Dr Cantlie-I do not think the boat hook could have caused the amputation, but it might have caused the wound on the leg.

His Worship-The amputation was almost a surgical operation?

Dr Cantlie-Yes; it was a perfectly clean cut. May I ask if the man was on shore or on the lanneh? His Worship-None of the launch people
